Fite to ask for tenure approval for 22 instructors

By Jim Lynch

President Gilbert C. Fite will recommend Thursday that the Board of Governors (BOG) approve tenure for 22, instructors at Eastern.

The instructors include five associate professors, 15 associate professors and two instructors. After Fite has made his recommendations, the board will vote on whether to accept or reject them.

If the BOG accepts Fite's recommendations, the 22 faculty members will be granted tenure.

The faculty members were recommended for tenure by the departmental chairpersons in consultation with the Departmental Personnel Committees and the tenured faculty of the department.

The names were then sent to Lawrence Ringenberg, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences and Peter Moody, vice president for academic affairs, who made their recommendations in consultation with the University Personnel Committee.

The Executive Officers Report to be presented at the meeting will include Eastern's new and expanded programs and Library operating budget requests for fiscal 1977. Included in the request will be $249,530 for expanded programs.

That figure includes $40,000 for the Continuing Education program, $50,000 for the Learning Resources Center, $11,400 for a Bachelor of Science degree in Medical Technology, $19,000 for a Bachelor of Arts degree in Community Press Media, $86,350 for upgrading Audio-Visual support for the improvement of instruction and $42,000 for the BOG degree program.

The university is also asking for $100,000 for new programs, including $45,000 for a Bachelor of Science degree in Career Occupations, $30,000 for a Bachelor of Science degree in business with a major in energy management and $25,000 for a master of science degree with a major in environment biology.

Also, the report is asking for a budget of $2,345,683 to make up a book deficiency in Booth Library.

According to a formula devised at Washington State University based on the number of books needed to adequately fulfill the needs of the students multiplied by the number of students at the institution, Booth would need to purchase 122,490 books to bring it up to the minimum standards set forth by the formula.

The university now has 349,000 volumes in its collection and needs 471,490 to bring it up to par.

The BOG meeting is in Springfield.

Enrollment up over last summer

By Kathy Abell

With 853 students registering for the summer session Monday and Tuesday, the summer enrollment figure has climbed over the 3,200 mark, Michael Taylor, director of registration, said at the close of registration Tuesday.

The 3,200 figure tops last summer's enrollment of 3,134 students.

The enrollment figure, however, falls short of the record 5,055 summer enrollment of 1971.

After a four-year period of assessing students only $10 for summer tuition, the tuition fee was raised to $140 last summer for a full load. This summer students are being assessed a $135 tuition fee for a full load.

Taylor said that 2,245 students pre-enrolled for summer. However, approximately 250 cancelled and an additional 40 were dropped for low academic achievement, explained Taylor. Additionally, 500 graduate students registered on May 10.

Thus, the "rough" enrollment count is approximately 3,200, said Taylor.

He said an exact figure and a complete breakdown of students attending the summer session would not be available until early next week due to continuing registration and drops and adds.

For the pre-session-May 19 through June 6-593 students were enrolled.

Taylor announced that late registration will continue Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. Students should report to the University Union Mezzanine between 9 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. He said those students will be assessed a $10 late registration fee.

Schedule changes, adds and drops will start Wednesday and run through Friday. Students should report to the Union Ballroom between 9 a.m. and 1 p.m. according to an alphabetical listing.

All students should report to the Union Ballroom on Thursday and Friday between 9 a.m. and 2 p.m.

Guidelines for student police sent to Williams' office-Pauley

By Joe Natale

Security Police Chief John Pauley said Tuesday he has made his recommendations on the student security patrol guidelines and has sent them to Glenn Williams, vice president for student affairs, for further recommendations.

The guidelines were worked out by members of the student patrol and the Student Senate's Human Relations Committee and approved by the senate on April 27.

The guidelines were prepared following a hearing into the background of the student patrol where it was discovered that the patrol did not have an official set of guidelines.

The hearing was a result of an incident near Andrews Hall in February concerning a harassment charge.

Williams said that he has a heavy schedule this week, but would try to look over the guidelines and Pauley's recommendations by Friday.

"I'll make my recommendations and send them to President (Gilbert C.) Fite, who can approve them, or send them back for us to work on more," Williams said.

Until the guidelines are approved, the student cops will be working under the context of chapter 38 of the Illinois Revised Statutes which is concerned with citizen's arrest powers. The patrol will be on duty during the summer term.

The guidelines, as approved by the Student Senate, include provisions for a Selection and Hearing Board made up of a student, a faculty member and a student patrolman.

The board would hear complaints against patrol members and allow the patrol members the opportunity to challenge their suspension or firing from the force.

There is also a provision in the proposed guidelines which states that the Eastern News will be requested to publish the existence of the patrol at the beginning of each semester but the names and photographs of the student officers will not be allowed to be used in order to maintain their peer group relationship.

Pauley said that he did not write the guidelines and that since the conception of the patrol in the summer of 1973, there have been several guidelines for the patrol.

The guidelines stipulate that a patrol member will be required to carry a badge and identification while on duty and to present them on contact with another student.

The guidelines also give the patrol the right to request and secure student ID cards in certain situations.

The ID cards would be secured to prevent a person from trying to flee and thus preventing student patrol members from engaging in forceful detention.

Building program dead; Eastern capital budget in trouble

By Jim Lynch

Even though the Legislature has all but killed Gov. Dan Walker's Accelerated Building program, there is still a chance that Eastern could get part of the $2.3 million they would have gotten from the section dealing with higher education.

Bill Warren, the legislative liaison for the Board of Governors, said the Senate defeated the bond authorization parts of the program. This means the sale of bonds to raise the money to finance any appropriations made under the program was not approved.

"Without the money, any appropriations would be meaningless," Warren said. "Anymore capital development money for the BOG would have to come from a committee request for more bond authorization and then a larger appropriation."

The Accelerated Building program is a $4.5 billion accelerated bond construction project proposed by Walker to help increase the number of jobs in the state.

Of that figure, $3,399,100 was supposed to be included in the BOG's capital development request with $2.3 million earmarked for Eastern.

Under the BOG's original capital development request of $15,070,091, Eastern is slated to get only $323,400.

The supplemental funds include $1.3 million for a remodeling project of Old Main, $63,000 for an addition to the Security Office, $50,000 to bring various buildings up to Occupational Safety and Health Act (OSHA) requirements and other smaller projects.

Without the extra $2.3 million, Eastern will make the Old Main project and the Security Office addition the basis for its fiscal 1977 request, Martin Schaefer, vice president for administrative affairs, said.

"What we assume now," said Schaefer, "is that the projects we had been requesting will be put back in the BOG's capital request and we will get the money for them."

Those projects include $45,000 for planning the Old Main remodeling, $163,500 for relighting and rehabilitation to meet OSHA requirements in Booth Library, $96,000 for rehabilitating other campus buildings to meet OSHA standards and $18,960 for ventilation the gymnastics gym in the Lantz Building.

"However," he said, "we're not sure we will get our original request. All we can do is hope."

Warren also said that BOG's appropriation's bill, which is separate from the basic capital development budget, passed the Senate with no changes and is now awaiting action in the House Appropriations Committee II.

The BOG is asking for a total of $98,494,645 for the five schools under its jurisdiction.

Eastern's share of that figure would be $18,982,400 which would be the university's operating budget for the 1975-76 school year.

Soderberg elected new Poli Sci head

Margaret Soderberg, who was elected chairperson of the Political Science Department at the end of May, will assume her duties at the beginning of the fall semester.

The Political Science department elected Soderberg spring semester as the successor to Joe Connelly.

Connelly resigned on April 28, effective at the end of the summer term. He said he wanted to spend more time teaching and doing research.

At the time of his resignation, Connelly was in the first year of a three-year term as chairperson.

Soderberg was elected to a full three-year term rather than the two unfinished years of Connelly's term.

"The President (Gilbert Fite) and the Dean (Lawrence Ringenberg, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences) decided that it would be better if I start out with a full term," Soderberg said.

She received her doctorate from Washington University and began teaching at Eastern in 1962.

Deputies report seeing student cop Casavant with gun

By Dann Gire

Two Coles County deputy sheriffs wrote a report in March alleging they saw Eastern student patrolman Andrew Casavant wearing a handgun in a shoulder-holster during spring semester, the News learned Monday.

The report, dated March 11, was signed by deputies Jim Richie and Bob Campbell, who both claim they spotted a gun on Casavant while taking a coffee break at the Korner Restaurant on Lincoln Street.

"We were drinking coffee and we saw four of them (student patrolmen) sitting at another table," said Campbell. "Just before they left, Casavant shook his coat open when he was stretching. I saw a gun in a shoulder holster."

Campbell said he couldn't determine what type of gun it was or its size.

Deputy Richie said he was the first to see the gun, which he said was a "large framed revolver" under the left arm pit.

The deputies did not arrest Casavant, they said, because they were "unsure" of the powers of student patrolmen and felt it best to contact Eastern's Security Office "and let them handle it."

According to a report prepared by Eastern Security Officer Lowell East, Richie informed the Security Office of his observation shortly afterward. East's report stated that he conferred with Captain Jack Chambers on the matter, then called all the student patrolmen into the office; he then spoke to Casavant alone.

The report states that East asked Casavant if he had a weapon on him. Casavant's reply was "No." East said he "patted down" Casavant and concluded that "There were no weapons on him or his outer clothing."

"I asked him (Casavant) if he had a pistol in his car," East said in the report. "He (Casavant) said he did but it was legal as the pistol was unloaded, holstered and that he kept it under the front seat." Assistant States Attorney Michael Albert told the News Tuesday that (See CASAVANT, page 6)

Price named acting president

By Joe Natale

Student Body President Mick Chizmar has appointed Jim Price as acting student body president for the summer term.

In a memorandum issued at the close of the spring semester, Chizmar stated that he would not be attending classes during the summer term and that Price, a graduate student in education from Elmhurst, Ill., would assume his duties through Aug. 27.

There is no provision in the Student Government Constitution which allows for the appointment of an acting president.

However, there is a provision in the constitution which allows the president to appoint an assistant to the president, who can officially represent the president at any formal function or any meeting, but cannot exercise the powers of the president.

"The constitution doesn't point out what to do if the president is gone for the summer and Chizmar is trying to set a precedent by the appointment," Price said.

Price said that Chizmar is trying to get legislation through the senate concerning the appointments of acting student government officers.

Chizmar, a graduate student from Girard, was unavailable for comment.

Price said that some of his duties during the summer will be filling in for the other executive officers during the summer.

Executive officers who will not be on campus during the summer term are Jim Covington, Eastern's student representative to the Board of Governors, Jean Galovich, executive vice president, Larry Hart, financial vice president, and Chizmar.

"Officers like vice-president for financial affairs have little to do during the summer and since their roles are minor, I'll do them," Price said.

Price said that his duties during the summer as acting student body president will include appointing persons to various student-faculty boards and the appointments of student judges to the University, Appellate and Supreme Courts.

Kluge yet to submit sabbatical research plan

By Joe Natale

Donald Kluge, retiring dean of housing, said Monday the research plan for his sabbatical leave is not yet completed.

Under Board of Governors policy, the project must be submitted to the university president and approved or the sabbatical will not be allowed.

Kluge will be on sabbatical leave for a year following his resignation as housing dean. His resignation will take effect July 3 and he will retire from the university in June 1976.

While on sabbatical leave a person is paid half his regular annual salary. Kluge's present salary is $24,950.

BOG policy allows for retiring administrators to receive terminal pay, but Kluge is not actually eligible for it under the policy. However, President Gilbert C. Fite said an exception would be made in Kluge's case because "he is close enough" to meeting board requirements.

Also, under BOG policy, a person is only allowed two sabbaticals while at the university and Kluge has already taken his two.

The policy stipulates that a person who takes a sabbatical has to return to the university and teach for the year or forfeit the salary he was paid during the sabbatical.

He doesn't have to (submit his research plan) until July 31, when his resignation becomes effective," Fite said.

Kluge said he is preparing his research plan, but he could not give a specific date when it would be finished.

"I don't want to give a deadline because somebody will get on my back if I don't meet the deadline," Kluge said.

Kluge announced his resignation in March after a grand jury did not indict him on a charge of official misconduct in signing a false travel voucher.

In July while on a trip to a housing conference in Pennsylvania, Kluge took an unauthorized trip to Rochester N.Y., and charged his expenses to Eastern.

Kluge was reprimanded by Fite and paid the $153 back to the university.

Student Patrol guidelines proposal defies First Amendment

Editorial

Further studies and possible recommendations on the proposed student police guidelines will be made this week by Vice President for Student Affairs Glenn Williams and President Fite.

Unfortunately, as the News sees it, part IV, sections A. and B. of the proposal go beyond the realm of the First Amendment and is unconstitutional and outrageously authoritarian in nature.

"The Eastern News will be requested to publish the existence of the Student Patrol at the beginning of each semester, however the names and photographs of the student officers will not be used in order to maintain their peer group relationship," says section A. "Guidelines and job specifications will not be published. This is done to stop offenders of the law from challenging the duties of the Student Patrol members," says section B.

What these sections essentially say is that students should be aware of the fact that Student Patrol exists, but should know nothing about the names, looks or most importantly, the duties and guidelines of the police.

The News sees a potentially dangerous situation brewing here if this proposal becomes a reality.

Because the students wouldn't be able to challenge the Student police on their duties, theoretically anything could go. This would be particularly unfortunate if the "offender" somehow happened to be in the right.

As one small example, Patrolman Andy Cassavant was found with a pistol, holster and bullets under the seat of his car, a clear violation of Illinois Statute 38.

A small amount of imagination can conjure up the negative possibilities if such instances as this and others are allowed to go unnoticed, which they would be if the proposal is approved.

It is the job of the free press to protect its readers' interests, which is why we say the proposal goes beyond the realm of a democracy in asking the News what to print and what not to print.

Security Chief John Pauley won't comment as to whether or not he thinks the regulations are constitutional and wouldn't attempt to explain what was meant by the student patrol maintaining "the peer group relationship."

However Pauley did send the proposals on to Williams and ultimately Fite for final approval or disapproval.

Hopefully the guidelines will be returned to sender for revision very quickly. We have confidence in our administrators ability to recognize a possible timebomb.

Pre-session females treated to dorm john graffiti

Gambit... By Janine Hartman

Graffiti has long been a form of college art and self-expression, but often the most amazing and imaginative examples have been confined to inaccessible areas, chiefly the walls of the university men's rooms.

Through the pre-session housing shuffle females billeted in Thomas Hall had the chance to view some startling artistic interpretations of anatomy, as well as relish some slightly scatological wit at the expense of departed residents, that has been preserved in the john.

Disconcerting life-size renderings of the human form as well as some new zoological facts were made known to those who leave less emphatic aspects of their personalities imprinted in their halls. For example, one critic averred, in pencil, that his neighbor was living proof of romance between the American Indian and the buffalo.

Dorm johns serve as gathering places, social centers, forums for public opinions and areas for medical care. Women leave a less permanent imprint however, although they are sloppier.

Announcements are invariably posted in the john, as well as advertisements, notices of keggers, ukases of the Housing Office, etc. Last year second floor of Taylor Hall North made the john the official area for corridor meetings. It was explained that residents spent so much time in there anyway shaving, waking up and/or throwing up that it seemed the logical place.

Other university men's rooms apparently also act as bulletin boards. (See Gambit, page 5)

Shaky plot helps 'Earthquake' rumble way to infamy

Girewires... By Dann Gire

Definitely the worst in the current series of "catastrophe" pictures, "Earthquake!" hits the screen with a shaky storyline, internal inconsistencies, and technical flaws that will cause film buffs to tremble.

Starring in this wavering farce is Charlton Heston as a former super jock who has done good in the world of business and building and who is married to the daughter of the company president and going out with the wife of a best friend who was killed.

George Kennedy is a patrolman who is friends with Richard Roundtree, a motorcycle devil whose manager's sister gets favors from a local grocer played by Marjoe Gornier.

By the time this soap opera-like program reaches its first hour, the 7-point-plus on the Richter Scale earthquake which devastates the city of Los Angeles is a thankful relief from the almost idiotic introduction.

"Earthquake!" took an Academy Award for the new sound system called "Sensurround" which advertisements claim "Makes you feel as well as see the actual effects of an earthquake."

While the sound is unusual no amount of it can make up for the visual aspects of the picture, which resemble the special effects fo a film similar to a "Godzilla vs. the Thingamjig" epic.

The houses and building swept away by the flood (caused when the dam broke) were easily perceived as small-scale models of the real thing. When houses and apartments fell apart, the walls collapsed and the roof fell in, but no furniture was inside.

Overall, "Earthquake!" seemed to suffer from cheap theatrics. Gore was put on the screen only for gore's sake. One woman extra grabs her head, and as she turns around we see plate glass imbedded in her forehead and eyes.

But the real clincher was the impact of an elevator plunging down a skyscraper shaft. As the elevator hit the bottom, the camera lens is showered by crimson colored splatters, a technique commonly seen in a film the calibre of "Don't Look in the Basement."

Another cliché aspect of the picture was its large number of "just before's." Heston gets out of a tunnel just before it collapses. Ava Gardner rolls out of the way just before a steel beam falls. Genevieve Bujold dives to safety just before a house squishes her as it rolls down a hill.

To add injury to insult, the writers of the program (George Fox and Mario "Godfather" Puzo) neglected to tell us what happened to poor old Richard Roundtree, who was last seen on a motorcycle trying to outrun a tidal wave in a storm drain. Tacky.

The supreme piece of stupidity came at the end when Heston reverses his character 180 degrees to pull off a rescue of his old bag wife, a rescue which defies intelligence, logic, emotional consideration, and common sense.

Perhaps the wisest character in the entire show was that of Lorne Green, who died half-way through and was thus spared most of the silliness to come.

"Earthquake!" is now shaking up audiences (with an extra 50 cents per ticket) at the Time Theatre in Mattoon.

Coffey deserves praise for stand on gun control issue: Keith

Letters to the editor

Rep. Max Coffey, R. Charleston, deserves praise for the strong stand he has taken against the variety of restrictive gun control measures pending in the Illinois Legislature.

Although I certainly don't agree with Mr. Coffey on all issues, he made some very good points in the news release he issued recently on the subject.

I agree that:

1. Americans have a basic right to keep and bear arms for self-defense
2. That criminals will always find a way to obtain firearms
3. That banning possession of firearms would simply create another profitable

Gambit makes debut in Union John

After the Carman Hall brouhaha this morning a friend informed me that I'd achieved the ultimate in notoriety, dishonorable mention on the walls of the Union Men's Room. President Fite suffers worse though, they wrote about him on the sidewalk last month.

Male students seem to have a mischievous compulsion to state their opinions in public areas in some graphic form or another. They are usually more original though. They write their own stuff.

Magic slates, the erasable tablets one used as kids, are in wide use in women's halls, and occasionally contain positive statements such as "Ernestine is a bitch," but on the whole, the urge to immortalize one's opinion by plastering bald statements like "Beer tonight, 50 cents, Room 358."

Women put up magazine pictures, useful sayings and tidy decorations. Men go right to character assassination or it across the walls is not present.

Taylor South used to be a men's hall until five years ago, and despite careful efforts, the evidence of "Kilroy was here" is still there. Also those fascinating libels about the Sig Pi's, and a number of persons now lost to view. When the girls moved in they attempted to alter the tone of the place by sticking plastic flowers in the urinals. But still the evidence of what Joe thought about Al is visible in various parts of the installation, lending a raffish tone to Kleenex architecture.

Not particularly praiseworthy, and on occasion fairly nauseating, but it is always still proof that a lively and vaguely annoying human being must have lived there once. After all, white formica can look so naked without graffiti.

area of activity for organized crime.

It deeply saddens me that a very small but outspoken minority in my own political party (the Democratic Party) in this area favors confiscation of firearms. Ironically, most of these people claim to be "liberals," in spite of the fact that just about the only guns left after confiscation would be in the hands of hard-core criminals and the U.S. military.

It shouldn't take a grade school education, let alone a Ph.D. to see that under these circumstances a Hitler-style authoritarian dictatorship would inevitably arise in this country.

When a takeover of this country becomes possible with practically no muss, no fuss and no bloodletting, even the slightest knowledge of human nature indicates that a takeover will in fact occur.

The incentive and the temptation to do so is just too great. Disarming the American people is like an open invitation to stage a bloodless coup in this country.

Some people counter this argument by saying that top military leaders have such overwhelming firepower that they could take over any time they wanted to anyway.

What these people fail to realize is that the chances of a coup against an unarmed populace is infinitely greater than it would be under present circumstances.

When military leaders know they would have to depend on their rank and file troops to kill fellow American citizens and when they know they would face many years of guerrilla warfare from armed, freedom-loving citizens the chances of a takeover are greatly lessened.

On the other hand, it might not be difficult at all to get a consensus for a takeover when it was obvious that there could be no real resistance.

The self-styled "liberals" who favor gun confiscation had better think again—and think quickly—for soon it may be too late.

If firearms are confiscated throughout this country the word "liberal" won't even be allowed in the dictionary. Freedom of speech, press, religion and assembly will be only a faint and bitter memory.

'Ryan's Daughter' set for June 25

Seven movies have been scheduled by the University Board (UB) for summer, Bill Clark, director of student activities and organizations, said last week.

All movies will be shown at 8 p.m. in the Union addition Grand Ballroom and cost 25 cents, he said.

The scheduled films are:

Wednesday—"Travels With My Aunt"

June 18—"Ryan's Daughter"

June 25—"Paint Your Wagon"

July 9—"Junior Bonner"

July 16—"On a Clear Day You Can See Forever"

July 23—"Darling Lili"

July 30—"Planet of the Apes"

Clark also said the UB is planning to hold one ice cream social and one watermelon festival but that the dates for those events haven't been set yet.

The board may also hold a concert similar to the REO Speedwagon one held in O'Brien Stadium last summer but that nothing definite was planned, Clark said. The board lost $2,000 on that concert.

BOG sets up special task force to make collective bargaining study

A special task force to study collective bargaining was created by the Board of Governors (BOG) on May 28.

The action is the result of a motion made by board member Leon Davis. At the May BOG meeting, Davis pointed out that no present state laws allow for collective bargaining for wages and benefits in higher education institutions and questioned whether the BOG could allow collective bargaining in the system without enabling legislation.

Jeff Ladd, the board chairperson, said the task force would be responsible for conducting a study of collective bargaining. He said the committee will:

Evaluate the pros and cons of collective bargaining and its effect on the authority given the BOG by the Legislature.

Evaluate the effect of collective bargaining on the quality of education and the effect on other groups at academic institutions.

Investigate and evaluate what authority the BOG has to enter into collective bargaining that is compatible with the Governor's office, the Legislature and the Board of Higher Education.

To recommend a course of action. The task force will decide whether to enter into collective bargaining with enabling legislation without enabling legislation or enter into collective bargaining at all.

Before Davis' motion, board member Don Bufalino, who chaired the Ad Hoc Committee on Collective Bargaining, had to recommended that a task force be set up by the established rules and guidelines for collective bargaining for the five schools under the board's jurisdiction.

The effect of Davis' action was to further delay final action on Collective Bargaining by the BOG. The board has been studying the question of whether to allow collective bargaining in the system for over half a year.

Appleby awarded lecture grant

David Appleby of the Music Department has been awarded a lecturing grant in Brazil by the U.S. State Department.

The grant is for this summer. Appleby left Charleston on May 27 and will return August 11.

Appleby was also awarded a grant from the Research Council of Eastern and Brazilian government through the Department of the Ministerio de Relaciones Exteriores.

He will serve on the jury commission of the Festival of Contemporary Music at Piracicaba, Sao Paulo, and will be a guest lecturer at other music festivals.

Appleby, who has been at Eastern since 1971, was born in Brazil and received his education through high school there, before coming to America.

Coe to develop teacher evaluation

Harold Coe of the Psychology Department was selected to prepare a faculty version of student teacher evaluation of instruction, June Johnson, a Faculty Senate member, said Tuesday.

Johnson, chairperson of the senate's Student-Faculty Relations Committee, said Coe's appointment had been approved by Peter Moody, vice president for academic affairs.

The position for a faculty member to develop an evaluation system was a result of a Faculty Senate request because many faculty members were not pleased by the published teacher evaluation in March.

Coe's job is for the summer term only and is a half-time position.

Johnson said that the purpose of having a faculty member develop a student evaluation of teachers is not to prevent students from taking part in the procedures.

"This is not a means of excluding students and we definitely wanted someone to work with students and faculty," Johnson said.

Coe was unavailable Tuesday for comment on his appointment.

Casavant allegedly carrying .44 magnum

Chapter 38 of the Illinois Revised Statutes states a person cannot lawfully keep or carry a weapon in a glove compartment or under the car seat even if it's unloaded.

"The weapon would still be considered concealed," he said.

Albert said a violation of the statute would be a Class A misdemeanor which carries a maximum sentence of a year in prison and/or a fine up to $1,000.

East reported he asked to see the gun, then checked it and found it to be unloaded. He said Casavant had several shells to the revolver which he produced.

The East report stated Casavant held a gun owner's permit, but informed him "he (Casavant) was on the borderline of being guilty of carrying a concealed weapon."

East said in his report the gun Casavant possessed was a "magnum .44 calibre."

A News investigation revealed Monday evening that Casavant had purchased a Smith and Wesson .44 Magnum from a Casey gunstore around the first of the year.

Eastern Security Chief John Pauley, Jr. said Tuesday that no action was taken on the report by deputies Richie and Campbell because there was never a written complaint filed against Casavant.

"A complaint is an affidavit for a warrant," said Pauley. "I've never had anyone make a complaint to me. To act on something without a complaint is not following due process."

Pauley said he had called the student patrolmen into his office following the March 11 observation and asked them if any of them had seen Casavant with a gun.

"No one said they saw Casavant with a gun on duty," he reported.

Student patrolmen have only the powers of an average citizen in matters of arrest and detention, Pauley said. He said the student patrolmen are not allowed to carry guns on duty.

The only other time any complaint has been registered against Casavant for possession of a firearm was on April 24, when Eastern student Bruce Miller told the Student Senate "Casavant came to my house Monday (April 21) at six o'clock and he had a gun."

Bill allowing sale of beer, wine in unions dies

By Jim Lynch

A bill which would've amended the Dram Shop Act to allow the sale of beer and wine in unions of universities and colleges is dead for this session of the Legislature.

The bill, which was sponsored by Rep. Robert Mann, D-Chicago, was placed an interim study calendar, Bill Waren, the legislative liaison for the Board of Governors, said last week.

"The bill hadn't had time to be considered before the deadline for voting," Waren said, "so instead of putting it up for a vote and taking a chance on it getting killed, Rep. Mann put it on the interim study calendar."

"This means that it is still alive but that it won't be considered until the fall session. It may not even be heard until after Jan 1," he said.

The bill has the support of Jerome Sachs, acting executive officer of the BOG, and Eastern President Gilbert C. Fite has said that he would follow any guidelines the board would set up for the sale of beer and wine in the University Union.

Also, a bill which would have made it easier for students to declare independent status was defeated in committee, Doug Whitley, director of the Association of Illinois Student Governments, said last week.

Whitley said the bill was supposed to have made it easier for students who are "judged emancipated" to get an Illinois State Scholarship.

However, he said, "the language in which the bill was put did not address the needs of the students. The way it was written still gave the Commission the option of checking a student's parents tax records for two years instead of only one."

'Chicago' may perform at Eastern

By Jim Lynch

"Chicago" and Harry Chapin may perform at Eastern during Homecoming week, Bill Clark, director of student activities and organizations, said last week.

"The University Board (UB) sent offers to "Chicago" and Harry Chapin for dates during Homecoming week," Clark said. "We should know in a couple of weeks if they've accepted the offers."

If they do accept the offers, Clark said, "Chicago" would be here on Oct. 10 and Chapin would be here on Oct. 18.

Ticket prices for Chicago would be "either $6.50 or $7 for all seats. We will set the seats up in a festival type arrangement and probably won't have any chairs set up on the floor," Clark said.

Tickets for the Chapin concert would cost $5.50 for floor seats, $4.50 for reserved bleacher seats and $3.50 for unreserved bleachers. The traditional seating arrangement would be used.

He said that the board is trying to purchase a new stage that would "end our logistics problems for good," Clark said.

He said the new stage would be six feet high, 32 feet deep and 56 feet long and would cost "about $17,000." Clark said $4,000 of that figure would come from UB revenue sharing monies and the rest would come from the Lantz Building revenue bond Depreciation Account and other sources.

"I've talked to President Fite and he told me we could find the money somewhere. We'll have to get approval from the Board of Governors to make the purchase."

"Chicago" requires a $25,000 guarantee for its performances but that the promoters, Windy City Productions, would take care of that out of its share of the profits.

Clark said the UB would get 10 percent of the profits from the concert and Windy City would get the other 90 percent.

Clark said that he felt that students would pay $7 to see "Chicago" "especially after all the commotion raised last semester."

Clark was referring to the fact that during Spring "Chicago" offered to perform in concert at Eastern. The UB had to reject because it said it didn't have the stage the group required and they wanted too large a guarantee.

A group of students circulated a petition asking that the UB accept "Chicago's" offer but the the UB decided against it anyway.

Clark also said that he thought having the two concerts so close together wouldn't hurt attendance because "the performers will hopefully appeal to two different types of audiences."

Chapin requires a $7,500 guarantee which will also be paid out of the promoter's share of the take.

520 people living in dormitories; increase of 45 over last summer

By Kathy Abell

About 520 students are living in the residence halls this summer, Associate Dean of Housing Louis V. Hencken said Tuesday. This is an increase of 45 students over last summer's housing enrollment.

He said about 50 students have been assigned rooms since registration began Monday. Consequently, some women have been assigned temporary rooms in the lounges in Andrews Hall.

However, Hencken said, starting Wednesday the women would be moved out of the lounges and given regular room assignments.

This summer the women are occupying fourth through ninth floors of Andrews Hall. The men are in the second and third floors of Andrews Hall, as well as the first, second and one-half of the third floor of the south wing of Thomas Hall. The arrangement is the same as last year.

The rest of Thomas Hall is being used by summer camps and conferences.

This summer the students have only two housing options as compared to three last summer: double occupancy-$256 or single occupancy-$309. Both options include room and board.

Last summer the students could opt for single or double occupancy with room only.

Beverly Sterling, director of food services, cited several reasons for dropping the third option. "There is a lack of sufficient facilities to cook in the halls," she said.

One of the biggest problems, however, was "catching unwelcome guests (students with the room only option) in the dining room," she said. Additional checkers had to be hired to "patrol" the area.

Sterling also said students who paid to eat in the cafeteria were also caught carrying out extra food for non-paying students.

"Exterminators had to be called at least three or four times last summer," Sterling said, in explaining another problem, "to rid the bugs in the rooms," which was more than likely created by the additional amounts of food in the rooms.

Sterling said that in the past exterminators were usually called in at the end of the semester and maybe once or twice during the semester.

Hencken attributed the economic condition and the cost of living off-campus as the major reasons for the increase in the current housing enrollment over last summer's figure of 475.

More commuters are staying on campus, he said, because of the increasing cost of gasoline. Also, more students are staying in the residence halls, rather than off campus, because of the rising cost of food, he said.

O'Keefe given terminal contract; will be retained if possible - Fite

By Jim Lynch

Kevin O'Keefe of the History Department has been given a terminal contract for the 1975-76 school year, President Gilbert C. Fite said Thursday.

Fite said that O'Keefe, who has been at Eastern for five years, was given the terminal contract due to "overstaffing in the History Department." Also O'Keefe is being let go because he is the only non-tenured member of the department.

During spring semester, the possibility of O'Keefe being given a terminal contract was the subject of some controversy.

When it was first learned that Lawrence Ringenberg, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, had recommended O'Keefe for a terminal contract, the Departmental Personnel Committee of the History Department sent a two-page memorandum to Ringenberg stating the reasons why it thought he should be retained.

Jim Covington, the student representative to the Board of Governors, also wrote a letter saying O'Keefe was an excellent instructor and should be retained.

O'Keefe's being a terminal contract means that the 1975-76 school year will be his last at Eastern "unless something comes up," Fite said. "Every effort will be made to keep Dr. O'Keefe on the staff," Fite said. "If enrollment goes up or we get more money for our budget next year, we will try to retain him."

Fite also said one instructor in foreign language and two in business education were also given terminal contracts for the same reason as O'Keefe - their departments were overstaffed.

Walker, Scott scheduled to speak at 40th Annual Boy's State convention

By Scott Weaver
Gov. Dan Walker and Attorney General William Scott may be among the featured speakers at the 40th Annual American Legion Premier Boys' State of Illinois, Phil Lindberg, director of arrangements, said Tuesday.
Boys State is scheduled to be held on Eastern's campus Saturday through June 20.
Neil Hartigan and Secretary of State Mike Howlett will also be addressing the gathering of high school boys.
Walker is tentatively scheduled to speak June 20. Scott is scheduled for Sunday. Hartigan and Howlett are scheduled to speak Monday and June 19 respectively. The site of the speeches has not been set yet, Lindberg said.

Richard Blake, a noted actor, will appear as Abraham Lincoln at 8 p.m. Saturday.
All speeches are closed to the public. Last year Boy's State was held at Eastern for the first time since the American Legion started sponsoring the event in 1935 to teach high school students about the political workings of the state government.
Some problems arose over the use of tennis courts, athletic facilities in Lantz, and the visitors behavior on and off campus.
To help alleviate some of these problems Lindberg said some changes have been made in the contract between Boy's State and the Board of Governors.

Erotic film festival nets over $300

By Jim Lynch
Thanks in part to President Gilbert C. Fite's attempt to ban the "Best of the First Annual New York Erotic Film Festival", the Eastern Film Society (EFS) cleared over $300 on its five showings of the film.
Richard Rogers, the EFS faculty adviser, said last week that Fite's action, and the resulting publicity, "had a lot to do with" the film making the amount of money it did.
On Feb. 28, Fite issued a statement banning the group from showing the film on campus facilities saying it was of "questionable moral or educational content."
The group sought an injunction to block Fite's order but were unsuccessful in obtaining one.
Later, Richard Dunn, the legal counsel to the Board of Governors, recommended that Fite allow the group to show the film, saying that Fite's action in banning it had since become unconstitutional.

On April 28, Fite issued a statement giving the EFS permission to show the film as long as it made "proper application under our existing policies" for the facility.
The group showed the erotic film festival on May 8, 9 and 10. One member, Brian Gregory, said after the first night, the group had made enough money to cover its expenses and that everything after that "was just profit."
Rogers said that he hadn't talked to any students about how they liked the film, but "I have heard some comments indirectly. Most of them were negative."
He said the comments were negative probably because the students were disappointed that the film wasn't more "hardcore" than it was.

Appeal decision expected soon

A three-judge appeals panel took under advisement last week Coles County Democrats final attempts to have the Nov. 5 election results thrown out of court.

The U.S. Sixth District Appellate Court judges said that they would study the case and make their decision within 90 days.

County Democrats were appealing the ruling of the U.S. District Judge Henry Wise who said on Dec. 27 that the results of the election were valid.

The appeal centered on the malfunctioning of the Video Voter voting machines which allegedly lost up to 1,300 votes.

The Democrats claimed that these malfunctions denied voters their constitutional right to vote.

effect control all heating and cooling operations on campus, Harley Holt, vice president for business services, said last week.

The system, which consists of a small computer wired to all campus buildings, will be installed "by the end of September and should be ready for operation soon after that," Holt said. "There might have to be some programming done after the thing is installed but not too much."

The computer will be programmed to monitor the temperature in all buildings on campus and shut off and turn on all heating and cooling equipment as it is needed.

"There are over 3,000 thermostats on campus and we don't have the manpower necessary to adjust the thermostats every time they should be," Holt said earlier.

"In one year of operation," he said, "the energy conservation system should save enough money to pay for itself."

The engineering firm of Brown, Davids and Mullins, which handles Eastern's engineering work, has estimated that the university could save $102,000 on gas and electricity bills and even more as costs rise.

Positions as disc jockeys, music director, program director and news director are open, Warpenburg said.

Anyone interested should contact Warpenburg at the WELH studio in Coleman Hall from 10 a.m. to noon and 2 to 4 p.m., or call the station at 581-3710.

during the summer, although he said he expects about 15 senators will be attending the summer term.

Those senators who will be at Eastern during the summer are Susan Howell, Barb Kelly, Dave Poshard, Nancy Spitze, Karen Anderson, Bill Scaggs, Janet Koch and Price.

Also at the meeting, Price said that he will explain the procedures for a person to take if he is interested in being in the senate during the summer.

"A person will need to have 25 people to sign a petition and then the senate will vote on who it will admit," Price said.

He said petitions should be available on Friday.

Also on the agenda, Price said he expects he will explain some of the projects the senate will work on during the summer, which includes work on the student evaluation of teaching.

Price said a possible teacher evaluation that will be developed will include 10 basic questions and 10 questions which pertain to individual departments.

graduated in May.

Price said only eight senators have indicated that they will be on campus.

He said this would allow more flexibility in the evaluation and he also said he hopes the senate can work with Harold Coe, who is developing a faculty version of evaluating instruction during the summer.

Price added that President Gilbert C. Fite notified the senate that he will give $400 to the students evaluation program. Last year, Fite had given $600 to the project.

No written complaint against Casavant filed

No written complaint has been filed against a student patrol member concerning a scuffle with another student during the spring semester, John Pauley, Security chief said Tuesday.

Andrew Casavant, a student patrolman, was accused by Bruce Miller of taking his dog from him during a scuffle on the quad.

The Student Senate had voted on April 24 to ask for the suspension of Casavant who had allegedly assaulted Miller on the north quad on April 22.

Pauley said that since a written complaint has not been filed against Casavant concerning the Miller case, there is no action that he can take.

Jury rules student wreck 'accidental'—epilepsy cause

By Kathy Abell

No action will be taken against Eastern student Brian Farmer who recently killed one Eastern lady and injured another when he apparently lost control of his car while suffering an epileptic seizure.

A coroner's jury ruled June 2 that the death of Charleston resident Norma Ingram was accidental.

The jury also recommended that the Secretary of State's office-Division of Investigation check into the circumstances surrounding the issuance of an operator's permit to Farmer.

The jury recommended the investigation into the issuance of a license to Farmer because when applying for an operator's permit Farmer failed to indicate that he was an epileptic.

A question on the application asks whether the applicant has any medical disabilities. Farmer did not indicate on his application that he had epilepsy.

Coles County Coroner Richard Lynch said Monday he had sent a letter to the Division of Investigation in compliance with the jury's recommendation.

A native of Fairfield, Ill., Farmer, who graduated from Eastern, would have participated in the university's commencement ceremonies the day after the accident.

The freak accident occurred May 10 when Farmer was driving southbound on University Driving heading towards Wilb Walker's shopping center.

Farmer's car smashed through the wall of Mary's Chic Coiffures Beauty Shop at 1709 University; killing Ingram and injuring Mary Hodges, operator of the beauty shop. Both women were trapped in the wreckage and could not be released until a tow truck had pulled Farmer's car out of the building.

Ingram died from head injuries suffered in the accident.

Hodges was hospitalized for treatment and observation and later released.

Farmer's physician, Michael Murray of Olney, stated that Farmer had been under treatment for epilepsy since August, 1971, following an epileptic seizure. Farmer suffered another seizure in 1972.

Farmer was taken to the Charleston Hospital for overnight observation. He is now at home in Fairfield.

Ward, mile relay team set records at women's track meet

By Debbie Newman

Performances by Debbie Ward and the mile relay team highlighted the Panther cause at the women's state track meet held at Illinois State University May 10 with record setting efforts.

The team gathered a sum of 40 points to place fourth in state in a meet which 12 schools competed in.

Illinois State won the championship with 51½ points, the University of Illinois was second with 50, and Southern Illinois-Carbondale was third with a total of 47.

Other schools and their cores were Augustana, 19; Western, 12; Northern, 10; Northwestern and Principia, 4; Lewis, 2½; while the University of Illinois-Chicago Circle and the University of Chicago were blanked.

Ward's state record came in the 100-meter hurdles with her best effort ever of 15.6 while the mile relay team (Florence Bolden, Kim Davis, Rose Onoma, and Sue Whaley) recorded their best time ever for a new Illinois state record in 4:11.3.

Ruth Cooper was the only other winner for the Panthers with her 12:59.5 two-mile run. Teammate Sue Wrenn was fourth in 13:19.

Cooper was also third in the mile run finishing with a time of 5:47. Wrenn was fifth in her 5:56.9 finish.

Eastern took third and fourth place honors in the 400-meter hurdles with Whaley clocking in at the 1:01.9 mark and Sally Enrietto's 1:10.8.

Davis and Whaley placed third and fourth respectively for the Panthers with times of 60.8 and 61.

Whaley also grabbed a third in the 880-yard run marking a 2:24.5 finish.

The 440-relay team was fourth in 52.7 and the 880-medley took second place via the efforts of Ward, Davis, Sue Evans and Onoma, in 1:51.3.

Errors kill Eastern in regional

By Gene Seymour

Some good news and some bad news. First the good news. Prior to spring semester finals week, Eastern's baseball team received a bid to compete in the NCAA College Division Mideast Regional, only the second time in the school's history for such an occurrence.

Not only that, but the Panthers were picked to host the tourney, a first for Eastern in baseball, as the only other NCAA-sanctioned playoff held here was the Great Lakes basketball regional held last March.

Now the bad news.

The Panthers played their roles as the gracious host to perfection by bowing out of the double elimination competition tourney in the minimum two games.

Eastern handed Wright State (Ohio) a 7-6 opening round win on a silver platter, while Jay Sander's crew rolled over and played dead for tourney champs Marietta (Ohio) College, 7-0.

On Panther gratuity in the Wright State game, Sanders pointed out that three of Eastern's four costly errors were committed by freshmen and sophmores, while Eastern was also guilty of "not playing our game."

"The things we have done well all year, we didn't do at all during the tournament," Sanders said. "We've had games with many physical errors this year and still won."

"But we were making far too many mental mistakes both on the bases and in the field. The guys should have known better than to do the things they did out there."

"Hell, (Bob) Schlemmer never fields a ball the way he tried and (Doug) Craig didn't even know how many outs there were."

What Sanders was referring to was two incidents in the bottom of the ninth inning that enabled Wright to overcome a 6-4 Panther advantage that was established in the top of that inning.

With two on and one out, Raider third baseman Steve Limbert hit a single off pitcher Wally Ensminger to Schlemmer in right field. Schlemmer went down on one knee to stop the shot but it skipped past him, enabling both runs to score while Limbert wound up on third.

With a tied score and the winning run on third, Terry Flmmary lifted a fly ball to medium-deep center field that Craig made the routine catch on.

However, Craig apparently thought the inning was over as he began trotting towards the infield while Limbert got a full two second jump on the throw to score the winning run.

Eastern had held leads of 1-0, 3-2, 4-2 and 6-4 before the ninth.

The following day, Marietta methodically disposed of the Panther Pitchers Larry Olsen and Dwain Nelson as Eastern got seven hits off Kim Stanberry.

WIU Softball Winner

Due to the rainy condition during the softball tournament in Macomb May 12 - 16, the women's intercollegiate softball team did not play out the tournament.

Western was chosen as the designated winner to represent this area in the regional tournament in Omaha, Nebraska due to the fact that they had lost no games in the play offs up to that point.

Football Cardinals will train here: no lights

By Debbie Newman

The athletic department thinks Eastern has great facilities, as revealed in a statement made by Athletic Director Mike Mullally, and apparently the football Cardinals think so too, because as of May 24 they officially announced their decision to train here this summer.

"I think we have great facilities here," said Mullally, "and that it would be a beneficial situation for them as well as for us, although I'm more concerned about us."

"I kept encouraging them to come, they were very much impressed with our facilities so they agreed to come."

This decision came as sort of a surprise to many, because although Eastern knew it had a good chance earlier this year of getting the Cardinals to train at the university, at one point they indicated that they would have to have a lighted field.

"I didn't think we had much of a chance to get them, because one of the things they insisted upon was having lights."

Another thing, other than Eastern's facilities, which is attractive to the ball club, is the easy access to the university.

"We're close to St. Louis, we have easy access by air. It's four lane highway all the way, a two and one half hour drive if your travel at the 55 mile per hour speed limit and there's not a stop sign between Busch Stadium and Charleston."

The contract the Cardinals signed to train here stands just for the summer of '75, July 19-Aug. 22.

"I wanted to see how it works out this year first, if it is an agreeable arrangement for us and whether or not the players enjoy themselves.

"If both parties seem to get along without too much difficulty, if they don't infringe upon our rights and we don't infringe upon theirs and they want to come back, maybe we can work out some kind of a long term arrangement."

If the Cardinals do decide to stay, Eastern stands a good chance of seeing lights erected on the football field and after this year, Mullally said the fields will be in as good or better shape than they are now.

"If we want to keep them we might have to make some kind of a long term arrangement where they help us get some of the things they want, such as lights.

"They will use three fields, the soccer field, the area between the soccer field and the football field, and the football field.

"They are going to spread their work-outs apart in such a way that there will be wear and tear on the fields, but I don't think they'll use them enough to completely tear them up.

However, they will pay us enough so that we can afford to go back and fertilize and repaint so I think our fields will end up in as good or better shape than they are in right now."

Other ways Mullally mentioned that the

Ababio double NCAA champ, USTFF next

By Debbie Newman

Eastern's track Panthers had a double winner at the NCAA Division II track meet held at Sacramento, Calif., May 26-30. Toni Ababio won long and triple jump titles.

Ababio, the first double national winner in Eastern's history, accounted for 20 of the 27 team points the Panthers gathered en route to their eighth place finish.

The top eight finishers in the meet were California-Northridge, 57; Southeastern Louisiana, 50; Cal Poly-San Luis Obispo, 45; Lincoln University, (Missouri), 41; California-Irvine, 37; Cal Poly-Pomona, 33; California-Hayward, 31; Eastern, 27.

"This is the most outstanding job than any Eastern athlete has done in the NCAA Division II Championships," coach Neil Moore said of Ababio.

Because of his double win Ababio will compete in the United States Track and Field Federation (USTFF) meet of champions on Saturday at Berkley's University of California.

Ababio, who was eligible to attend the Division I track championships in Provo, Utah the week following the Division II meet could not attend both meets, so he chose to attend the USTFF meet. The USTFF meet will consist of event winners from the NCAA I, II and III meets.

The only other Panthers to place in the Division II meet were Rick Livesey, third in the 3000 meter steeplechase and Ken Burke, sixth in the six-mile run.

Livesey finished first in the prelims in Friday's seering heat, 101 degrees on the rubberized asphalt track and took third in the finals with his best effort of the year, 9:06.8.

Livesey experienced an "abbreviated" season as Moore put it, because he was not able to compete during the indoor season being stricken with injuries and illnesses. He did not begin the outdoor season until the second weekend in April.

"His conditioning isn't what it should have been," Moore said.

Livesey holds the school record in the steeplechase with his 1974 NCAA II second place, All-American effort of 9:01.2.

Burke, who won All-American honors last year in the six-mile, placing fourth, finished in sixth place this year on Sacramento's hot, sticky track with a clocking of 30:00.2.

Burke, who was scheduled to go in the three-mile Saturday was unable to do so because "his feet were so badly blistered" Moore said after running six miles on the melting, tarry surface.

Other men who competed for Eastern in the meet were Mike Larson, an All-American in the mile run in 1974, who ran with the leaders for three laps of the finals but failed to finish among them.

John Barron, also a former All-American in the high jump failed to reach the starting height.

Andy Womack, another former All-American, qualified for prelims, but not for finals in the javelin.

Jerry Byrne, Bob Kratz (pole vault), Bert Meyers (steeple), Phill Stivers (javelin), John Hudecek, Jeff Nevius (440 dash), Mike Miller (shot and discus), Joe Sexton, Dave Nance and Keith Gooden (880 dash) were the others that went to the meet.

Toni Ababio will travel to Berkley, California for the USTFF meet of champions after having won the long and triple jump events in the NCAA II meet in May.

Two attend tennis NCAA

Jeff Fifield and Don Harvey traveled to Pueblo, Colorado Monday for the NCAA Division tennis championships which is being held at Southern Colorado State University. The championship started Tuesday and will run through Friday.

This is the last season that Eastern will field a men's intercollegiate tennis team since the sport was dropped from the intercollegiate athletic program this spring.

Fifield, a junior from Galesburg, Ill., played the number one position for Eastern this spring, while teammate Harvey, a sophomore from Champaign, was the number two man for the Panthers.

The team finished the season in dual competition at .500 (7-7).

This year Eastern played some schools which they had not played in previous years, such as the University of Illinois and Southern Illinois University-Edwardsville.

1975 C-M Twins open season here, play in Grimes field against Peoria

After opening the season Tuesday night in Bloomington, the Charleston-Mattoon Twins will be hosting the Peoria Pacers in Grimes Field at Mattoon Wednesday night for a 7:30 game.

The twins are coached this year by the Panther's assistant baseball coach, Randy Swanson. The general manager for the Twins is head baseball coach at Eastern, J. Sanders.

Last year the team was coached by Sanders and Swanson was the assistant.

"We are fortunate to have the talent on the team that we have this year," Swanson said.

Three Twins were caught in the draft, but two signed. Steve Shartzter will find his home with the St. Louis Cardinals this season, while Tim McCarthy has joined the Baltimore Orioles.

Carl Pagel was drafted by the Cardinals but did not sign as he had already signed a letter of intent to play at the University of Texas next year.

Three of the Twins are Panthers, two of whom were in Tuesday's starting line-up—Doug Craig (left field) and Mike Honel (first base). The other Panther who will be playing with the Twins this summer is Bill Tucker (pitching).

Tuesday's starting line-up and one which is subject to change, due to the amount of talent on the team this spring consists of Jim Adkins (Southern Illinois-Carbondale), pitcher; Bob Woodside (University of Arizona), catcher; Honel; Jack Perconte (Murray State), second baseman; Herb Krul (University of Toledo), third baseman; Tom Steinmetz, short stop; Craig; Jimmy Hill (Western Illinois), center field; Carl Pagel (Glendale JC-Phoenix), right field; and Jim Blade (Lakeland JC), designated hitter.
